Change Planned for Day Worker Assembly Site Entrance

The newly opened day worker assembly site, located at 1481 Sterling Road in Herndon, has been operating for a week on Town-owned land bisected by the Loudoun and Fairfax County boundary line. In response to a zoning decision by Loudoun County, Herndon Town Manager Steve Owen has announced that access to the site will be shifted to the Sterling Road entrance by January 1, 2006. After that date, no part of the official day worker operation will occur in Loudoun County. Additionally, the Town of Herndon plans to submit an application to Loudoun County for approval of the more accessible Rock Hill Road entrance for the Public Works and Recycling Center facilities within 60 days.

Owen said "We are going to show good faith and comity towards Loudoun by limiting Project Hope and Harmony's day worker operation to that portion of the property that is undisputedly located within Fairfax County".

For more information on the day worker assembly site, contact Steve Owen at 703-787-7368.
